This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

THIS catalogue is issued in pursuance of the provisions of section 3, chapter 105, general laws of 1871.

"The State Library had its origin in the generous appropriation of $5,000 out of the general treasury, by Congress, contained in the seventeenth section of the organic act, creating the Territory of Wisconsin. At the first session of the territorial legislature, held at Belmont in 1836, a joint resolution was adopted, appointing the Hon. John M. Clayton, of Delaware (through whose instrumentality the clause in the organic act making the appropriation was inserted), Hon. Lewis F. Linn, of Missouri, Hon. G. W. Jones, then delegate in Congress from this territory (which at that time included what now constitutes the state of Iowa, as well as Wisconsin,) and Hon. Peter Hill Engle, the speaker of the first territorial House of Representatives, a committee to select and purchase a library for the use of the territory, and authorizing them to draw the sum appropriated for that purpose from the federal treasury. Mr. Engle was the active member of the committee, and made the selections and purchases, with the approval of the other members. James Clarke, publisher of the Belmont Gazette, and first territorial printer, was the first librarian."

"The first appropriation, by the State, to replenish the library, was made in 1851. The sum of $2,500 was then appropriated to be expended under the direction of Gov. Dewey, in the purchase of law books. No report of this expenditure seems to have been made to the legislature. Subsequently, in 1854, the sum of $3,000 was appropriated for law and miscellaneous works; and in 1857 the additional appropriation of $1,000 was made for the same purpose, together with a standing appropriation of $250 for such additions to the law and miscellaneous departments of the library as might from time to time be deemed desirable."*

The annual appropriation was, in 1864, increased to $500. In 1866, an additional fund of $600 per annum was put at the disposal of the Governor, for the purpose of supplying deficiencies in the law department of the library. This appropriation was in the first instance limited to two years; but the act has been re-enacted from time to time, and is still in force. By the provisions of the acts of 1866 and 1868, also, purchases for this library are now confined to "law books, books of reference, and works on political science and statistics;" except that the librarian is permitted to continue and complete any sets of valuable works already contained in the library.

For some years past the design has been steadily pursued of collecting in the state capitol (so far as the appropriations made for the purpose will permit,) a STATE LAW LIBRARY, proximately complete, and adequate to the ever-growing wants of the bench and bar of Wisconsin; and at the same time procuring such works bearing upon political science as may render the Library useful to the legislative and executive departments of the state government. The present catalogue will show what progress has been made in the execution of this design; and will at the same time show to any one who studies it carefully, what large deficiencies remain to be supplied before this collection can claim the character of a first-rate State Law Library.

Counsel and others who contemplate a visit to the capitol for the purpose of consulting this library, frequently wish to know beforehand just what authorities can here be found. Copies of this catalogue will be furnished to such persons, on application therefor; and to render it more useful to them, the titles of the books have been given with considerable fullness. At the end of Part First will be found an Index of Subjects, which will show the inquirer at a glance what treatises the library contains upon any given topic of the law. In connection with Part Second are given Chronological Lists of the Reporters in the various courts of England, Ireland and Scotland, and also a Table of the Regnal Years of the English Sovereigns. Under the name of each State will also be found a chronological list of its Reports. These adjuncts of the catalogue may be found convenient in determining readily the exact period of a reported decision, or in tracing from its origin the stream of judicial authority upon any legal question which may be the subject of investigation.
